Chapter 1: The Causes of the War

The Spanish-American War was caused by a number of factors, including:

* The Cuban Revolution: In 1895, the Cuban people revolted against Spanish rule. The United States supported the rebels, and Spain responded by sending troops to Cuba. * The sinking of the USS Maine: In 1898, the USS Maine, an American battleship, exploded in Havana harbor.

The United States blamed Spain for the explosion, and war was declared. *
The desire for empire: The United States was eager to expand its empire, and the Spanish-American War gave it an opportunity to do so. The United States acquired Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Philippines as a result of the war.

Chapter 2: The Course of the War

The Spanish-American War was fought on land and sea. The United States quickly defeated Spain in battle, and the war ended with the signing of the Treaty of Paris in 1898.

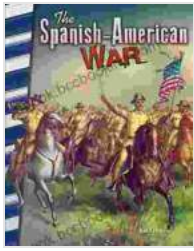

Chapter 3: The Consequences of the War

The Spanish-American War had a profound impact on the United States and the world. The war led to the United States' emergence as a global power, and it also had a significant impact on the lives of millions of people in Cuba, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines.
